Procurement of automatic Frequency Restoration Reserve (aFRR) in Q2/2020 (weeks 14-26)

The Nordic TSOs have decided to further increase the procurement of aFRR in Q2 2020 by expanding the number of procurement hours per week from 84 to 94. The total volume will be varied with approx. 300 MW in most hours and approx. 400 MW in morning hours. The basis for the procurement is the agreed goal for frequency quality level and the TSOs will continue to procure aFRR in the morning and evening hours as well as the dayshift hours where the system balancing is most challenging. The additional number of hours with procurement will be in week-ends.

The procurement schedule until week 13 2020 will follow the earlier published information.

Starting from Monday 30 March 2020, aFRR will be procured in the following hours in Central European Time (CET):
